

KVH Technology Notes

DISH Network® and HDTV On the Go

You love the brilliant, high-definition picture on the TV in your living room at home, but what about in your living room on the go? HDTV is the new gold standard in entertainment, and KVH is happy to offer the most complete mobile HDTV solution available for vessels and vehicles. Whether you're looking for crystal-clear sports, movies, weather and news, or any other programming, we can help you get it, quickly and easily, whether you're stationary or on the move.

How Many HD Channels are Available from DISH Network?

DISH Network offers over 200 channels of premium high-definition programming, including HD locals!

Q&A:

Are TracVision® systems compatible with DISH Network HDTV?

Yes, they are! Many new KVH TracVision R-series and M-series systems are compatible with DISH Network's TurboHD programming, which includes both HD and standard-definition channels.* TracVision also offers easy satellite switching from the remote control, along with KVH's quality and reliability!

Do I need extra hardware to watch DISH Network's TurboHD programming with my TracVision system?

If you own a TracVision R6, M3, or M1 from KVH, no! You can enjoy HDTV from DISH Network without adding any additional hardware. If you own another product, you may need to update your software or add an accessory if you plan to enjoy DISH Network's HD broadcasts in the western half of the United States. KVH offers both a premium accessory and a low-cost software update to help with this – complete details are available at www.kvh.com/hdtv.

I have a TracVision system and a subscription to another provider. Can I switch to DISH Network and get HDTV programming?

Absolutely. KVH offers a wide selection of TracVision mobile satellite TV systems compatible with all of the leading North American satellite TV providers.* Depending on where you are and your antenna model, you may need a simple software update or KVH's exclusive Master Receiver Selector to make the switch to DISH Network's TurboHD programming. And if you have an older RV TracVision system or a TracVision C3, you're in luck as HDTV upgrades are available for many of KVH's previous models. KVH dealers nationwide are available to assist and KVH can even activate your new receiver for you. Check with your local authorized TracVision dealer for details, or visit www.kvh.com/wheretogetservice to find a dealer near you.

Can I get HDTV on the move with TracVision and DISH Network?

Absolutely. KVH's in-motion TracVision systems allow you to watch the best HDTV from DISH Network whenever you like, whether you're stationary or on the move. There's no need to limit your access to the best TV available with a system that only allows you to view it when you're parked or at anchor!

* Excluding DIRECTV-only models (M1, M2, M3ST, R6ST, and A7).
